Inside Nature Journals

This talk offers an overview of editorial decision-making at Nature/Nature Communications, including the assessment of scientific advance, significance and breadth of interest, together with practical guidance on navigating submission and peer review.

Dr Wang Liqian

Senior Editor, Nature

Liqian joined the editorial team of Nature in March 2024, where she oversees content in the broad area of biomedical engineering, with a special emphasis on the development of materials and devices towards biological or clinical applications. Before joining Nature, she championed the content of imaging, diagnostics and devices in Nature Biomedical Engineering since 2022. Previously, Liqian conducted research in DNA nanotechnology, bioelectronics and bioimaging at Oak Ridge National Laboratory, at Shanghai Institute of Applied Physics (CAS), and at Fudan University. Liqian obtained a PhD in Materials Science and Engineering from Università degli Studi di Roma Tor Vergata in April 2016.

Dr Matteo Cucchi

Senior Editor, Nature Communications

After receiving his PhD from TU Dresden, he moved to EPFL for a postdoc on soft bioelectronics for neural prosthetics. At Nature Communications, since 2023, Matteo oversees the field of bioelectronics, neural technologies, implants, wearables, and biomedical engineering.
